Host Onboarding and Review (Consumer Electronics)

When to Use

The Consumer Electronics department signs a new host, or runs the quarterly review of existing hosts.

Procedure

1. Background check: Confirm that the host's past product categories and audience profile fit consumer electronics buyers, and check for past policy violations.
2. Trial streams: Schedule 1-2 trial streams alongside an experienced host (never solo) and watch how well they know product specs and how they handle surprises.
3. Confirm the contract terms: Placement fee or commission rate, minimum number of streams and review period; Legal reviews the contract template.
4. Product training: Electronics needs real product knowledge, so schedule at least 4 hours of product training plus a written test. No solo streams until the test is passed.
5. First-month support: An experienced ops lead joins the first 4 streams, reviews each one's numbers and corrects problems early.
6. Quarterly review: Compare GMV, conversion rate, return rate and complaint rate with the department average. Falling below the threshold triggers three escalation levels: "check-in -> probation -> termination".
7. File the review: Store the review form in the host's profile; it sets their scheduling priority next quarter.

Partner Teams

- Legal: contract review
- Trust & Safety team: checks past policy violations
- Data team: provides the quarterly review numbers
